"Is there no Balm in Gilead? Is there no Physician there?. Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?"---Jer. viii. 22.

" The Lord hath caused Medicines to grow out of the earth, and he that is wise will not abhor them; for with such doth he heal men and take away their pains".--- Ecc. LXXXViii. 4.7.

IT is notorious, that various disorders of the human frame are brought on by dissipation in youth, and the gross violation of those rules which prudence dictates for the preservation of health, and laying a foundation for a long and happy life, with a firm and strong constitution. The blesings of health are no sooner lost, than painful experience teaches the inestimable value of it, and the unhappy patient looks around, too often, alas! in vain, for the means of its recovery !

Doctor Solomon, of Liverpool, recommends his CORDIAL BALM of GILEAD to all those whose constitutions, have been impaired by early imprudence, and whose nerves are afflicted by intense study, the too free use of ardent spirits, tea or coffee; as well as to all persons who are enervated by long residence in hot and unhealthy climates; in which cases it will invariably prove of the most sovereign efficacy, bracing the relaxed nerves, strengthening and invigorating the constitution.

Printed by J. Clarke, Underbratk, Stock prate

The various weaknesses peculiar to the Fair Sex come immediately under the power of this restorative; and many Ladies of fashion and respectability have found it to be the best medical appendage to the toilet they ever met with; for recruiting the decayed spirits, dissipating the head-ach, dulness and languor; creating a pleasing vivacity, chasing away melancholy, and giving comfort and strength to the whole system.

The train of melancholy disorders which afflict the human frame, under the denomination of Nervous Diseases, are the principal sources of human misery in the privation of health. These disorders proceed from such an infinite variety and complication of causes, as to render it impossible, if even it were always necessary, to trace them to their true source. The effects, however, are but too well known, and too severely felt amongst too great a portion of mankind; and to these effects it may without exaggeration be asserted, that any remedy more superior or celebrated for efficacy than DR. SOLOMON'S CORDIAL BALM OF GILEAD never has been discovered. Numerous cases have from time to time been published in every newspaper in the kingdom, for the encouragement of the afflicted to use and persevere in a medicine which so eminently affords a complete cure in all cases of debility.

An opinion prevails that nervous diseases are at present more common in Europe than at any former period, and is chiefly attributed to excess of indulgences practised in these times of refinement and luxury. It is certainly true, that the farther we depart from simplicity and temperance in diet, and the more we sacrifice wholesome exercises to the inactivity attending domestic amusements, the greater will be the influence of every physical error, in diminishing the vigour of the constitution. This complaint is incident to both sexes, with only this difference, that, in the female, from the natural delicacy of constitution and the softer manner of life, they are in general more frequent and violent than in the other. Weaknes of the nervous system is often, alas! too often, occassioned by irregularities in one sex, and sensual excesses in the other. The most common symptom of this disease is a constant dread of death, which pervades with its baneful influence the whole nervous system, writhing the heart with inexpressible anguish, and exciting the most dreadful suggestions of horror and despair! to this demon have thousands fallen a sacrifice in the transports. of its rage :--- It renders those unhappy persons who labour under it peevish, fickle, and impatient, apt to run from one Doctor to another ; . and this is the reason why they so, seldom reap benefit from medicine, as they have not sufficient resolution to persist in any-one course till it has time to produce its proper effect.

The CORDIAL BALM of GILEAD is certainly the most elegant and efficacious medicine ever yet discovered; in weak and shattered constitutions, weakness of sight or memory, hypochondria, tremblings, horrors of the mind, sexual debility, and all other diseases arising from a relaxed state of the nervous system, and often the consequence of intemperance, debauchery, inattention to the necessary cares of health, luxury, &c. In sedentary, inactive, or studious life, this Cordial Balm has universally established its restorative efficacy, and may be justly enumerated amongst the foremost of those happy discoveries which medical research has procured as the blessings of the human race, and greatest counteractive to human misery. Thousands at this moment, in the three kingdoms, live to praise the day they first applied to this admirable remedy, and enjoy the blessings of health, who might otherwise have dropped into an untimely grave, the victums of early imprudence.

Accounts from Ireland, the East and West Indies, Germany, Hamburgh, France, Russia, Berlin, Holland, Jamaica, America, Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, all concur in stating that no medicine ever introduced in those countries met with such rapid and extraordinary sale. The custom-house and export excise books at London and Liverpool will evidently show that more of this medicine is exported than all others put together.

Doctor Solomon, conscious of the rectitude of his conduct, and the unrivalled, unprecedented efficacy of his medicines, cannot withhold so great blessings from society as his CORDIAL BALM OF GILEAD and ANTI-IMPETIGINES, which are two distinct and separate preparations, the former for all cases of debility, and the latter in cases of impurity of blood, or depraved habit of body; and is determined, at the annual expense of Five Thousand Pounds, to establish these great discoveries for the benefit of mankind; and will continue regularly to publish true, genuine, and voluntary attestations of their superior efficacy. No person, therefore, labouring under weakness of body or debility of mind, should . despair, but make a trial of these medicines, which will not disappoint their hopes, however sanguine they may be. Those who have long resided in hot climates, and are languid and relaxed in their whole system, may take these medicines with the happiest effects; and persons going to the East or West-Indies cannot store more important articles of health and life. They have been the only means of restoring thousands afflicted with the Yellow Fever in America.

The Cordial Balm of Gilead is now considered as the greatest discovery that has been made in the memory of man; it is potent, safe, and The rapid and increasing fame bestowed on its author and inpleasant. ventor (Dr. Solomon, of Liverpool) is the true and only criterion to judge of the merits of a medicine, which has been administered from the highest to the lowest class of people with such happy and uniform success .- The venders of this medicine, which are far more numerous than ever before known, frequently cannot be supplied so quick as the demand is for it; and it is a fact worthy of remark, that they are sold nearly as soon as they arrive to hand, most of the bottles being bespoke before they are ordered.

Some remarkable cures which have been performed by this truly invaluable medicine are inserted, that all the world may be able to judge of the superior efficacy of the Cordial Balm of Gilead; and to show that no person, however dangerous their situation may be, should be bereft of hopes of relief.

CASES.

The extension of this selebrated Medicine in every place would be truly aftonishing, were it not for the accounts received from time to time of its great efficacy in removing obstinute and dan-gerous complaints. But it is no wonder that the afflicted should resort to a remedy which evinces its claims by so many respectable cases of persons in every direction, who have experienced its virtues.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. WILLIAM HODGSON, Editor of the Carlifle Journal, dated 30th June, 1801.

Mr. J. HARPER, an inhabitant of this neighbourhood, for feveral years laboured under a most iamentable depression of spirits, which rendered him almost incapable of either bodily or mental exertion ;, and although he had the advice of feveral gentlemen. of the faculty, of usquestionable abilities, yet I perceived with much concern that he grew worfe, and he ultimately exhibited every fymptom of a perion in the laft ftage of a confumption; his countenance was pale and meagre, and his voice had loft its ufual fonorous tone. Through continued importantity, I prevailed upon him at length to make trial of your Cordial Balm of Gilead; and after ning two bottles of it, his fpirits were much recruited, his face began to refume its wonted bloom and plumpnefs, and he is now, I am happy to state, completely restored to his pristine health and vigour.

Mr. EDWARD FOX, of Livery-flreet, Birmingham, laboured under the painful effects of indigestion, and could obtain no relief from regular medical advice. He determined to give the Cordial Balm of Gilead a fair trial, and immediately fent for fome to Mr. Swinney's, printer, in this town, and the confequences fully juftified the report he had of the medicine; his spirits were soon recruited, and his appetite and digestion, after eighteen months' wasting and excruciating illnese, are now happily reftored.

She had the beft medical advice the could procure, and Dr. Pitcairne among others; but to no good purpose. Being almost worn out with fustering, a friend advifed her buy a bottle of your Cordial Balm of Gilead; the purchased two half-guinea bottles, and found much relief by them; and then bought a 51. box, which perfectly reflored her from the debilitated state of her lungs and nervous diforder. AND ITS REMARKABLE PROPERTIES,

PROFESSOR WILDENOW, OF BERLIN. BY

BY DRS. BRADLEY AND WILLICH, For March, 1799.

CC P 'HE Balm of Mecca, or as it was ca'led by the Ancients, Balm of Gilead, is one L of the most celebrated medicines which have long been, and are still employed by the phylicians of the East. It has preferved its reputation from a period prior to the birth of Christ,* even to the present day, and is confidered by the Turks, and other Oriental nations, as one of the most efficacious and universal medical remedies. To whatever circumstance it may be ascribed; whether from the adulterations to which it is exposed in passing through so many mercenary hands before it can arrive on our fhores, or from the monopoliting spirit of the Eastern despots, who carry on a prositable traffic with this highly-effcemed Balm, it is but rarely imported into Europe. It is fent from Mecca, now its native foil, to the great Princes and Sovereigns of Europe, as a fcarce and valuable prefent from the Grand Seignior.

" The odour of this Balm, in its original flate, refembles a compound of rofemary and fage, partaking alfo in a flight degree of the nature of turpentine; befides which, it partially-emits the flavour of lemons and mace.

" The tafte of this Balm is bitter, aftringent and acrid. Among the eaftern nations it has long been a favorite and popular remedy taken internally, in cafes of difeafed in-testines, ulcers of the lungs, hver and kidney; and in general it is reputed an excellent diaphoretic and alexipharmic medicine. To perfons who have fwallowed poifon, or have unfortunately been bit by ferpents, fcorpions, or other venemous animals, it is ad-miniftered internally, as well as applied externally to the injured part. The modern Egyptians make daily use of it during the ravage of the plague, in order to prevent or repel that deftructive malady. It is further believed, that the Egyptian women possifies the wonderful art of rendering themselves fruitful, either by the internal use of this Balm, or by perfuming and smoaking their bodies with it. The beauty of the skin is also full to be not a little impressed by the use of it, and the ladies of the Serarlie anoint their faid to be not a little improved by the use of it, and the ladies of the Seraglio anoint their)

* The place where it formerly grew was Gilead, in 'udea, more than in 20 years before Chrift, or 1000 years before the Queen of Saba came to Jerufalem ; and nothing is more certain, than that the Balfam Tree had even transplanted from Abyfinia to Judea, and become an article of commerce there; and the place from which it originally was brought, through length of time, combined with other reafons, came to be forgotten. This is however contrary to the authority of Jofephus, the 'ewifth hiftorian, who fays, that a tree of this Balm was brought to terufalem by the Queen of Saba, and given among other preferes to Solomen, who, as we know from Scripture, was very fludions of all dorts of plants, and fkilful in the defcription and diffindtion of them. Here it feems to have been cultivated, and to have thriven fo, that the place of its origit, came to be forgotten. When Sultan Schum made the rougueft of Egypt and Arabia, in 1516, three pound is due to the Gevennor of Cairo; one pound to the Emit Hadje, who conducts the pilgrims to Merca: half a pound to the Bafhaw of Damafeus; and towers! other effect quantities to other efficies: after which the remainder is fold or farmed out to fome merchants.....bruce's firsters, vel 5.

bodies with it after tepid bathing. Throughout the East the Balm of Mecca is to this day confidered as a fovereign remedy against all difeases; and such is the unalterable veneration the Orientals entertain for it, that every part of this tree is in some form or other converted to medical purposes; for besides the Balfam or Balm, its fruit is employed under the name of Carpobalfamum, and the wood, stalk or trunk, under that of Xylobalfamum!

" The ancient Oriental Phyficians made use only of the Balm that spontaneously dropped from the tree, or which exuded after incifion; at prefent, however, there are three different methods of obtaining it, each of which furnishes a diffinct species of the Balm. The first mode of collecting it is that purfued by the ancients, or by incifion, which produces by far the most valuable Balm; and its confumption is chiefly confined to the principal and richeft families of Mecca and Conftantinople. The fecond mode of producing the Balm depends upon boiling the branches and leaves; this fort is perfectly pellucid, and emits an agreeable fragrance; the Turkish ladies apply it externally to beautify their skin, and make their hair grow; this is the kind which the Grand Seignior fometimes fends as a prefent to other Princes, and which is occafionally vended in the fhops, as a rare and coftly article. The last, and a very inferior species of the Balm, is obtained by a repeated and ftronger decoction of the leaves and branches; in this flate it becomes much thicker but less fragrant, and is transported into Europe by the caravans, under the different names of Balm of Mecca, Gilead, Judea, or Opobalfamum, fignifying the juice of the tree. This kind is not much valued in the East, and is used only by the lower claffes of people.

"It appears from the most authentic ancient writings, that the Balm of Gilead was an important article of commerce feveral centuries before the christian era. Bruce, the Abyfinian traveller, has pointed out the native foil of this Balm, being the fame as that of the Myrte, behind Azab, along the coast of Arabia, and extending to the straits of Babelmandel. Anciently it was believed that Egypt, Palestine, and Arabia, produced this Balfamic Tree; but, however that might be in former times, it is certain that now it is only cultivated artificially in those countries, that it does not thrive fo well there as other indigenous plants, and that the inhabitants are obliged to import annually a fresh flock of young trees, to supply the place of the decayed ones.

"Ancient writers have related many marvellous things as connected with the hiftory of this tree. Some afferted that vipers were continually breeding under its fhade;, according to others, it poffeffed fuch a degree of antipathy to iron, that it ferfibly trembled, on the fmalleft particle of iron entering into contact with it; and that on this account, any incifions made in its rind muft be performed with ivory, glafs, or fome other hard fubftance. Mr. Bruce, however, was an eye-witnefs to this incifion being made with an axe, without any trembling on the part of the tree; and it is alfo probable that fimilar operations have been always made with the fame inffrument. Other writers have maintained, that perfons who anoint their bodies with this Balm, have a peculiar claim to never-fading beauty, and to perpetual youth".

I RUE it is, the pneumatic system, as well as antimony and mercury, the principal medicines used for the scrofula, even when successful, as it is called, leave the poor patient a shattered and emaciated object-not so the ANTI-IMPETIGINES, which for its mildness of operation and certainty. of success, without injuring in the smallest degree the human frame, but on the contrary restoring it to health and vigour, after all the ancient and modern medicaments and applications could be of no benefit, although tried by one physician, and tried again by another, and so on, till the unhappy patient is brought near his quietus est. Then it is that this noble remedy, so justly called ANTI-IMPETICINES, displays its superior powers in rousing the vis vitæ, and assisting nature to expel the noxious obstructions to recovery, whether produced by scrofula, scurvy, or lues, or occasioned by the very medicines applied for their removal, as mercury, antimony, or aqua-fortis. all which, though the cried-up nostrums of the day, and used by many physicians called EMINENT, frequently leave such diseases as are found too deep rooted for common skill to remove, aided by all the materia medica, or the new-fangled philosophy of the day.

"Dr. John Hunter, and many other medical men, have certainly treated masterly on Venereal Complaints, yet they all follow the steps of their predecessors: mercury 1 mercury is still their grand climacteric! and which, notwithstanding all its alledged improvements and combinations, is mercury nevertheless !! It still then remains to apply a proper, safe, and effectual substitute for mercury. To discover it is needless---" there is nothing new under the Sun". Happy for this country such a one has been long since used in an extensive private practice, and in a multiplicity of instances found to be a sovereign, a safe, a speedy, and effectual remedy for every species of venercal taint, from a gonorrhœa to a confirmed syphilis, as well as for all "disorders originating from a depraved habit or affections of the skin". This medicine is known by the name of the ANTI-IMPETIGINES; a medicine long sought for, as the lamentable state in which the physical art stands at this day, with respect to the Venereal Disease, cannot be better described than it is in Dr. Bell's preface to his treatise. "He says, that " although much information may be obtained from two works just published on this complaint, as well as some other recent ones, there is STILL much left for others to elucidate". He goes on, and says, "such is the effect of his EXPERIENCE and OBSERVA-TION, that further advantages are daily accruing from the labours of individuals IN THIS DISEASE, as well as almost every other". Here then is a confession from a candid, worthy, and respectable Surgeon, founded on "experience and observation," that "farther advantages are daily ac-" cruing from the labours of individuals";---if so, who can claim so great a portion of praise as Dr. Solomon, whose labours have been indefatigable, and who has, at a great expense, brought the Anti-Impetigines to perfec-. tion, and into universal use and request? In venereal cases it has not its equal for certainty, safety, and efficacy; mercury may, perhaps, be opposed against it, but the ANTI-IMPETIGINES enters the list willingly, for upon the wreck of this destructive mineral its fabric is erected, strong, firm, and lasting! Men of character, liberality, and education, possessing public confidence as clergymen of unsullied reputation, have recommended numerous objects of those cruel diseases, the scrofula, king's evil, scurvy, &c. to Dr. Solomon's care, to whom this wonderful remedy was applied. with the most unbounded success, and those who were reduced to the very jaws of death by mercury and the venereal disease, have been snatched from destruction and restored to their relations and friends with renovated health and vigour, and those bones which were almost starting through the skin, are covered with flesh, firm and healthful! Such are the virtues of the Anti-Impetigines, and such are its wondrous effects on the human body !--- the antidote to mercury, and the purifier of the blood and lymph.

The ANTI-IMPETIGINES is a medicine founded on a chemical and philosophical basis, warranted by <sup>14</sup> Cullen's Practice of Physic and Nosology', and prepared by S. SOLOMON, Esq. M.D. Liverpool; who pledges himself to the public, that this medicine is perfectly innocent in its nature, safe in its application, and powerfully efficacious in every species of "Impetigines, or depraved habit, with affections of the skin". (Cullen's Practice of Physic, No. 1737). It is of the utmost importance to those afflicted with any of these direful diseases; to their friends and relatives, as well as to the rising generation, that such baneful complaints may be speedily removed, and the blood purified from every degree of miasma.

DR. SOLOMON, of Liverpool, having long devoted his studies to the certain cure of those disorders which arise from an impure and vitiated state of the blood and lymph, and having observed with deep regret, the numberless instances where patients have pined away a miserable existence without receiving the smallest benefit from any thing they could procure, notwithstanding the many pretended remedies which have been offered to the public as universal specifics for those complaints, has at length yielded to the pressing necessities of his fellow-creatures so deeply afflicted, and determined to publish to the world this medicine, as of the greatest inational importance, and truly calculated to cleanse the blood from all foulness, counteract every morbid affection, and restore weak and emaciated constitutions, which date their origin from the above ' causes, The king's evil, struma or scrofula, are hard, schirrous, and often indolent tumours that affect the glands of the neck, under the chin, arm-pits, groin, hams, arms and wrists, and most commonly is seated in the neck and beneath the ears. To remove these obstinate symptoms, the whole materia medica has been tried, with very little success, and the unhappy sufferer left to drag out a miserable existence ! Many are crawling along on crutches at this moment, whom the Anti-Impetigines would restore to health and vigour, if recourse were had to it....The directions given with each bottle are plain, and its application is attended with little or no trouble.

In all disorders where salivation has repeatedly failed, when noother remedy could restore the unhappy sufferer to that health he unfortunately lost, the Anti-Impetigines has been found the great and only restorer of health and vigour.

A medicine then, like this, is in the present times more than doubly valuable, as the intemperance and luxury of the age is hastening the ravages of disease, and rendering our blood more impure; and though a love of intemperance cannot on any account be defended, yet those who have been weak enough to associate with the sons of luxury, and thereby destroyed their constitutions, have the means now offered them of repairing the breach, and—so far as is in the power of physic to assist them—to restore themselves to perfect health.

The Anti-Impetigines may be administered to females and children with the utmost safety and efficacy, which circumstances have principally contributed to its great celebrity, and universal use and request.

The Anti-Impetigines is an alterative and purifier of the blood, its operation is gradual, gentle, and almost imperceptible; it is the best substitute that has ever been discovered for that dangerous mineral Mercury; it sweetens the blood, and stimulates it to expel all noxious and impure v juices, giving strength and tone to the nerves, enlivening and invigorating both body and mind. For scorbutic, cutaneous eruptions, dry or wet leprosy, the Anti-Impetigines certainly claims a pre-eminence over all other medicines, being decidedly adapted for the speedy removal of these complaints, and will not only clear the skin, but heal all old sores and ulcers of ever so long standing.

Proper directions for every case, to enable persons to cure themselves, are sealed up with each bottle, price half-a-guinea; there are also family bottles, containing the quantity of six at 10s. 6d. for 21. 10s. by which there is 13s. saved.

Innumerable letters of recommendation and certificates from the clergy, churchwardens, and overseers, in various parts of these kingdoms, are in the present proprietor's possession : particularly from

The Rev. J. Atkinson, of Cuirdale; The Rev. Richard Ca:r, of Billinge; The Rev. John Fawl, of Wigan; The Rev. J. Hague, of Butterworth; The Rev. Samuel Sewel, of Prescot; The Rev. Willm. Twyford, of Didsbury; The Rev. Willm. Twyford, of Didsbury; The Rev. Philip Kitchen, of Liverpool; The Rev. A. Clarke, Methodist Preacher, Manchester; The Rev. Joseph Taylor, of Coppull;

- The Rev. James Fisher, of Scorton, parish of Garstang;
- The Rev. Robert Westall, New Acrington, near Blackburn;
- The Rev. Wm. Pearfon, of Bolton; Ge. Ge. Ge.

These, with hundreds besides, having the welfare of their fellow-creatures at heart, voluntarily recommended wretched objects of misery and disease to Doctor Solomon's care, who, with humanity and benevolence, liberally and gratuitously administered the Anti-Impetigines to upwards of TEN THOUSAND objects, who are living witnesses of the amazing and certain efficacy of this extraordinary medicine. Dr. Solomon must here return thanks to the nobility, &c., who having received and witnessed many cures by this medicine of the most miraculous nature, for the many great marks of their attention; having received presents from several, as tokens of gratitude, in sums amounting from twenty to one hundred guineas.

This medicine, having been constantly used in the most extensive practice with invariable success, is of established efficacy, and has stood the test of half a century; it requires, therefore, no further comment to introduce it to public patronage.

$7 The limits of this Pamphlet will not admit of a more copious infertion of cafes of cures performed by the Anti-Impetigines, but abundance are inferted in the "GUIDE TO HEALTH", and more ftill are in the Doctor's poffellion, which for good reafons are not proper to appear in a public addrefs, that may fall into the hands of young people, whole want of knowledge of the mileries "human flefh is heir to", may ftill preferve them chafte and innocent.

TO LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.

DOCTOR SOLOMON has at length yielded to the folicitation of his numerous correfpondents, and has now prepared his ABSTERGENT LOTION for public ufe, which, for a feries of years, has been the wonder and admiration of his private patients !

at information

It is the most elegant, fragrant, mild, fafe and valuable Liquid or Wash for fcorbutic and other eruptions on the face and Ikin. It gently reftores the fkin to a degree of fairnefs and purity beyond the powers of description. Ladies may rely that it renders the fkin fair, delicate, and removes every kind of fain, tan, funburn, and all those freckles which rouge, long illnefs, or fatigue generally produce; in fhort, it is the only cofmetic a lady can use at her toilet with ease and comfort, or a gentleman have recourse to when shaving is become a dreadful operation by an eruptive difeafe on the face.

This Abstergent may be applied without the smallest hazard, for a more fovereign remedy cannot be devifed for even the most delicate frame.

Ladies and gentlemen may rely on the good qualities of this Abstergent, as the best clearer and beautifier of the fkin. It removes speedily, without pain or trouble, all kinds of Pimples, Tetters, Ring-worms, Spots, Rednefs, Swellings or Carbuncles of the Nofe, Blotches, Sun-burn, Tan or Freckles, Scurf, and every species of eruptions: on the furface of the buman body.

At is unneceffary to enumerate the advantages refulting to the conftitution of every perfon, by effectually removing obstructions from the furface of the skin, and thereby keeping free and open the innumerable paffages and pores through which nature expels all uscless or noxious humours from the vital fluid, and which being obstructed, are forced back again into the blood, and become the fources of many dangerous difeafes. It is therefore a matter of much confequence, as well to prevent hurtful diforders, as for the prefervation of eafe, comfact, and beauty to our perfons, that we should oocafionally have recourfe to proper outward applications; but more efpecially it becomes urgently requifite when the effects of obstruction make their appearance, and break out into pimples, redness, carbuncles, or other cutaneous eruptions. -

It is by no means Dr. Solomon's intention to oppose the fale of medicines published for fimilar purposes, or to infer any thing that may convey the smallest idea of their inefficacy; nothing but the flrongest folicitation from personages of high rank, would have induced him to fubmit his Abstergent for public fale: not only as a Lotion, to be used whilst under a courfe of the Anti-Impetigines, but as a Cosmetic in general, the proofs posfeffed by him of its virtues are as honorable as they are incontrovertible and decifive; thefe, although they may be fubmitted to the infpection of a vifitant, cannot be laid before the public; nor will any cafe or cure, however wondrous in its nature, or exalted the character, ever be published. The Abstergent never fails of fuccess with those who give it a fair trial, and as its price evidently shows that no private emolument is sought for by the proprietor, fo alfo may the public be convinced that nothing but a certainty of its fuccefs could induce Dr. Solomon to hazard the good opinion he is honored with by all ranks, in prefenting them with the Abstergent Lotion.

23 Note.-Every bottle of the Abstergent is figned (on a copper-plate label) by the proprietor, and none can be genuine that has not this mark of authenticity.

In this ufeful publication will be found a Treatife on Female Difeafes, Nervous, Hypochondriac, and Confumptive Complaints. The book is recommended to young men and boys,; as an early attention to the latter may serve to guard them against a faral rock on which thousands have split, and be the means of preferving them from difease, and all their faculties from defruction.

Nothing can certainly be of more importance 'to' the fair ser, than to be properly acquainted with every fymptom of fuch difeafes as they are peculiarly liable to, and how to manage themfelves when afflicted with any of them. for many of the fex have fallen victims to those cruel complaints through ignorance and falle delicacy, which deterred them from discovering their fituations even to their nearest relatives, is a matter which is too well known to be doubted, and the confequences have been fo dreadfully obvious that they call aloud for a remedy; to have a "Guide to Health", by which at their leifure moments they may make themfelves acquainted, with every circumftance that is neceffary for a female, whether married or fingle, to know; and alfo the proper remedies applicable to all fuch cafes.

The defign and intent of this publication is likewife for the express purpose of warning youth from falling into a delusive defiructive habit, that fascinates the sense and allures to the commission of a solitary vice which destroys the health and spirits of its votaries, and renders, them feeble and inactive for life !

This truly interesting work has been the labour of many years' experience and obfervation on the calamitous confequences of a fecret and destructive vice, to obtain a remedy against which, the Doctor has devoted the principal part of his life. No proprietors of boarding-schools or academies should be without it

This pamphlet points out the direct method of cure, from a Blenhorrhagia or Gonorrhœa, to a confirmed Siphilis. To which is added, an effay on Secret Venery, and a difcourfe on Impotency in the Male, and Sterility and Barrennefs incident to Females, &c. ; an appendix on the fubject of a folitary and deftructive Vice, and an addrefs to Parents, Guardians, and Tutors, and those who have the care and education of youth. Likewife advife to Bathers, particularly the afflicted with Nervous Complaints. The whole illustrated and interspected with a variety of authentic facts never before published. In which is explained the symptoms, mode of treatment, and remedies in the different stages of the Scurvy, Leprofy, King's Evil, Gout, Rheumatism, and Venereal Difeafe. Cautions to young perfons of the danger of improper connexions or improper treatment, &c. with the difference between the venereal fymptoms and those frequently mistaken for them.

Every perfon is interested in some part of this book, particularly young people of either fex, who have unfortunately given way to a delusive, secret, and destructive wice, injured their health, and destroyed their whole animal functions thereby: —fuch will meet with a "Balm of Confolation" in perusing the mode of cure laid down in The Guide to Health.
